

MPPIA SHORT FILM AWARD / GUIDELINES

2016-2017

WHAT IS THE MPPIA SHORT FILM AWARD?

The MPPIA Short Film Award will provide one emerging filmmaker with an opportunity to further develop his or her directing career by realizing a unique creative vision. This program was established to recognize and celebrate the contribution of film and television to the Province of British Columbia.

Please Note: This award is not intended for established film industry professionals.

THE AWARD

The successful candidate will receive a $15,000 cash award, plus services “in-kind” valued up to $100,000 from across the industry, enabling the filmmaker to complete his/her project with the guidance of experienced industry professionals and support services provided by the top supply houses in British Columbia.

MPPIA will assist the winning team solicit and coordinate substantial donations of “in-kind” services from the membership of MPPIA including production and post production services, equipment and supplies.

The completed film will have its world premiere screening at the 2017 Whistler Film Festival. Previous recipients of an MPPIA Short Film Award are not eligible to apply for this award again.

ELIGIBLE APPLICANTS

- Must be the director of the proposed project; Please Note: One Director per application, one application per Director. Co-Director projects will not be accepted under any circumstances.
- Must be 19 years of age or older;
- Must be a Canadian citizen or Permanent Resident;
- Must currently reside in the province of British Columbia and have lived in British Columbia for a minimum of 12 months prior to submitting the application to Creative BC;
- Must have creative control and final editorial authority over the proposed project;

- Must, at minimum, be either a graduate from a post secondary institution or recognized film school, or possess equivalent experience in the film industry and, through his or her body of work, be able to demonstrate ability and talent;
- Must have directed and completed at least two short films or television projects that demonstrate the expertise and imagination required to meet the challenges of creating an original and visionary short film (student films do count);
- Must not have directed more than 60 minutes of professional* live action, documentary, dramatic or comedic films (student films credits will not count towards this – all other directing credits, including productions currently in development, will);
- Must agree to grant MPPIA, Creative BC and the Whistler Film Festival the right to stream, screen and exploit the completed film (non-commercial use/promotional purposes only); and
- Must agree that the world premiere screening of the completed short will be at the Whistler Film Festival in the winter of 2017.

PRODUCER(S)

- Must have produced and completed at least two film or television projects that demonstrate the expertise required to meet the challenges of producing an original and visionary short film (student films do count); and
- Must have experience with Movie Magic scheduling software or something comparable.

THE PROJECT

- Must showcase British Columbia talent in front of and behind the camera (MPPIA and Creative BC funds may not be used towards procuring foreign talent);
- Must have a finished running time of not more than 10 minutes in length;
- Must be based on an original work;
- Must be live action drama or docu-drama (animation or documentary scripts will not be accepted);
- Must be completed within 11 months of the “Award Date” and in time for screening at the 2017 Whistler Film Festival; and
- May be shot on film, video or HD but ultimately mastered and delivered on HD.

MPPIA is to be provided with the following: four copies on DVD (two copies for MPPIA, one copy for Creative BC and one copy for the Whistler Film Festival).

Preference will be given to a project which, in the opinion of the selection committee members, is realizable, innovative, inspirational, and visionary and showcases British Columbia talent in front of and behind the camera.

CONTRIBUTED SERVICES “IN-KIND ”

The “in-kind” donation of services by MPPIA members will have a value of up to $100,000. Possible support available will include pre-production (e.g. office space, accounting, mentorship and script editing), production (e.g. lights, cameras, offices, materials, film/video stock, stage space, photocopying and publicity), and post production (e.g. editing, transfers, dubbing and VFX).

* Includes, but not limited to, broadcast on television, received theatrical or VOD release, and/or screened at major film festivals.

MPPIA will work closely with the selected finalist to confirm the actual services to be provided, in-kind, from the available donors.

Finalists should be aware of an over reliance or expectation of “in-kind” support relying on any one supplier is problematic and discouraged. All “in-kind” support is subject to availability at the time of production and therefore cannot be guaranteed. Planning the production period to occur when resources are more likely to be available is advisable.

ADJUDICATION PROCESS

This competition will be adjudicated in two stages:

STAGE ONE

A jury of five individuals, active in a professional capacity in the BC film, media and television industry, will review all applications received.

The jury will consider the following items when reviewing submissions:

- originality of the concept;
- quality and eloquence of the script;
- experience of the applicant director;
- marketing plan and distribution strategy;
- feasibility of the director’s vision statement;
- experience and track record of the producer named in the application;
- letters of recommendation provided in support of the director and producer;
- use of British Columbia talent in front of and behind the camera;

- overall viability of the proposal; and
- sense of style and impact evident from the applicant director's supporting DVD(s). A shortlist of up to five applicants will be selected to move forward to Stage Two.

STAGE TWO

The short-listed applicants will be invited to pitch their projects before a panel of three senior industry professionals. The live pitch session will take place during the 2016 Whistler Film Festival. The winner of this competition will be announced at the 2016 Whistler Film Festival Awards Brunch.

The panel of judges will take the following into consideration when reviewing the pitches:

- originality of the concept;
- quality and eloquence of the script;
- experience of the applicant director;
- marketing plan and distribution strategy;
- feasibility of the director's vision statement;
- experience and track record of the producer named in the application;
- letters of recommendation provided in support of the director and producer;
- use of British Columbia talent in front of and behind the camera;
- overall viability of the proposal; and
- sense of style and impact evident from the applicant director's supporting DVD(s). A shortlist of up to five applicants will be selected to move forward to Stage Two.

One applicant will be selected to receive the MPPIA Short Film Award, by a unanimous vote of the panel of judges.
